

Legislature Appropriates $2,165,000 to College

Missouri's special legislature session came to the end of its day trail last Thursday after voting all of the state's $75 million bond issue for a big building and repair program.

From the apportionment, the college has been given $2,165,000 for new buildings and renovations. Final division of the fund approved by state voters last January came after eight and one-half weeks of deliberation by the two houses of Missouri's legislature.

Distribution of the College's appropriation will be as follows, if Governor Donnelly signs the bill: $1,150,000 for a new arts and science building.

$500,000 for a new physical education building.

$135,000 for a dormitory, and $380,000 for repairs and replacements.

Cuts were originally made on the dormitory item, which had been reduced from $1,500,000 down to $265,000. The Senate bill cut it still further to $135,000.

The plan for the dormitory would have served 250 men and a like number of women.

Other cuts were made in the requests for the new arts and science building and the new physical education building, $550,000 and $100,000, respectively. The allotment for repairs and replacements was not trimmed.

Dr. J. W. Jones, president of the College, said that although the allotments were smaller than originally asked for, he and the Board of Regents would spend the money so as to obtain the utmost benefit for the College.

Earlier in the session, the House had appropriated $2,315,000 for buildings and repairs here, but the Senate committee cut this figure to $2,115,000, and finally the compromise of $2,165,000 was reached.

As the bills go to the desk of Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, who has 45 days to act on them, they allot $15,350,000 to rebuild the riot-scarred penal system and set up a new medium security prison, $36,898,240 for colleges and universities and $22,676,760 for mental hospitals and other charitable institutions.

In their final form, the legislative appropriations are still subject to downward revision by Governor Donnelly should he decide to use his veto power.

Performers in the Monday afternoon recital will include Jeanne Goodson, Robert Williamson, voice; Deon Jensen, Norma Bergstrom, clarinet; Kathleen Hopple, flute; Mary Abmeyer, Shirley Elliott, Eva Lee Hess, Donna Mains, Sylvia McConkey, Rosemary Shackson, Gary Tolen, Sharon Pittsenbarger, piano.

Wednesday evening performers will be Meredith Nystrom, Barbara Julius, Peggy Ann Bush, Anna Roberts, piano; George Green, Gary Funkhouser, clarinet; Byron Myers, Donna Ruoff, Sue Wright, voice; Richard Mitchell, string bass; and a trumpet trio composed of Dave Holland, Bob Dreher, and Mr. Moss.

Missourian Wins First in Contest

The Northwest Missourian recently received word that it has again been awarded a first place rating in the thirty-second annual contest of the Columbia Scholastic Press association.

Entries in the CSPS contests are judged in four general areas—content, writing and editing, make-up, and general considerations. The Missourian rated well in all four areas, with particularly high ratings in writing and editing and make-up.

In the division on content, highest ratings were made on editorial matter, "thoughtfully planned, giving evidence of consistent policy" and news potentialities of the school "well developed."

In the writing and editing division, the highest ratings were on news stories, "well-written" and language and style employed, "appropriate."

The Northwest Missourian is a "trim" looking paper, say the judges.

A. A. U. P. Dinner To Be on May 11

The annual formal honors dinner, given by the American Association of University Professors, will be held Friday, May 11, 5:45 p. m. in the Union. Dr. J. K. Sowards, Associate Professor of History and Humanities, will be the speaker.

Four highest ranking students from each of the four classes and two students who have ranked highest during all four years of college will be honored guests.

Those in charge of arrangements are Miss Irene Mueller, Leonard Levy, Myrl Long, Miss Vida Dunbar, and F. B. Houghton.

Music Opera Program To Be Double Feature

By Rolande Thompson

Two one-act operas, "The Lowland Sea" and "Gianni Schicchi," will be the double feature at 8 p. m., in the College auditorium on May 14. Both productions are under the direction of Mr. Gilbert Whitney, and are given under the auspices of the Division of Music as part of the Golden Anniversary celebration.

Bulletin

There will be a tentative showing of a U. S. Weather Bureau movie, "Tornado Warning System," on Tuesday, May 2, at 10 and 2 in room 327.

Graduate Program Will Be Extended

Two major fields of study have been added to the graduate program of the College and will be offered for the first time during the summer session of this year. The new fields of graduate study are elementary school supervision, which prepares a student to become an elementary school administrator, and health and physical education.

Presently there are eight departments or divisions of the College participating in the teaching of graduate courses, five of them offering major study in one or more fields for the degree of Master of Science in Education. The major fields of study are, in addition to the two previously mentioned, business, elementary school teaching, English, history and social science. It is the plan of the College to increase the number of fields for major study as conditions permit.

"The Lowland Sea," a contemporary opera by Eric Wilder, uses interesting lighting effects and a minimum of scenery to portray an imaginative seaport setting.

Has 13th Century Setting

"Gianni Schicchi," a comic opera by Giacomo Puccini, is set entirely in the 13th century Italian palatial bedroom of the deceased Buoso Donati. This opera will also be presented at a College assembly at 10:00 a. m. on May 11, in the auditorium.

All costumes and scenery used belong to the drama and dance departments. The stage production class has charge of the make-up, and the lighting will be taken care of by other drama students. Carol Peters, a senior art major, is in charge of the properties with help from the opera workshop.

One Is Sea Story

The "Lowland Sea" tells the story of Dorie Davis and Johnnie Dee and their tragic romance. The setting for this opera is a seaport in the mid-nineteenth century.

For this work, Mr. Wilder uses the sea chanties and folk tunes that were common in that day. This makes the work full of delightful and charming melodies.

In the opera, "Gianni Schicchi," the relatives of the lately deceased Buoso Donati discover that his will leaves all his possessions to the local monastery. In desperation, they call upon Gianni Schicchi, a shrewd lawyer, to help them. He decides to impersonate Buoso Donati and dictates a new will.

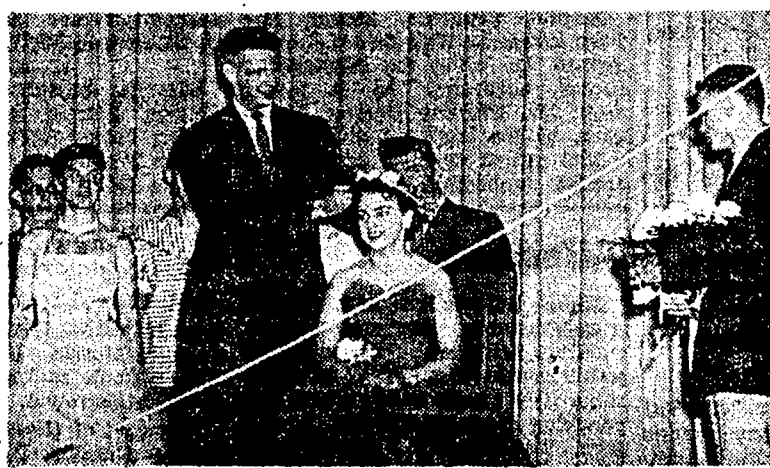

Stuber, Troxell, Hagee Star

Those playing in "The Lowland Sea" are Barbara Stuber, Jerry Troxell, Eugene Riedl, Carl Redmon, Fred Whitford, Bill Schultz, Patti Pranter, Marilyn Fulton, and three Horace Mann students. (Continued on Page Two)

Participation Helps . . .

by Carl Baker

Primaries, conventions, election year; yes, a very busy time. Once this used to be a time of great banquets and chautauquas. The times of elections were times to get out and cast your vote for the man that you believed was the best man; but today it is a day to go fishing, and year after year more people stay away from the polls.

What is to become of our great land and government if the generation coming up today does not care about what happens to this country? Hitting closer to home, we are alarmed to find the attitudes of college students are the same as that of the whole—uninterested.

At a recent political science workshop, held here at the College, this problem was discussed by students and prominent politicians who participated in a panel discussion, devoted to the theme of "Why College Students Should Take an Active Interest in Politics."

Although this workshop was in the nature of politics and involved members of both political parties, it is well to keep in mind that it was for the sole purpose of solving a serious problem which confronts political leaders and educators today. That problem is the lack of interest in politics on the part of college students.

It was a bi-partisan conference and not a move of one particular party to capture the potential college vote. It was intended to encourage students to enter into the politics of the nation and to stimulate them to think intelligently on political issues. The panel pointed out that if this could be achieved then eventually college students would affiliate themselves with one party or another, without extensive pressure from either party.

During the workshop a number of students expressed a desire to organize a political organization on the campus, somewhat like a young Republican Club or a young Democrats Club.

An organization of this type would be in conjunction with the main party organization and would work for the betterment of the party concerned. In such an organization the student would gain first hand experience on how politics work and through this they would gain a better understanding of our great political structure.

We, as college students, are supposed to be educated people, people who are well qualified in understanding problems that confront society today. Doesn't it stand to reason that we should be well qualified to take an active part in seeing that our government is run effectively?

Be Careful . . .

Just last week, a small child in College Heights was struck by an automobile. Only a month ago, a similar accident had taken place. Luckily, both cars were coming to a stop at the time and the children were not hurt. We might just as easily have been carrying a death notice for each child, however.

There are many children in the Vets' housing units, and they often are in the streets although their mothers and fathers try to care for them all the time.

One way to protect them is for college students who do not live in the Heights to refrain from driving in those streets. Many other drives, much more convenient ones, are available.

They're Talking About . . .

THEY'RE TALKING ABOUT the M. C. with the top hat and card board tails at the dorm party . . . the prospective college students we saw on Senior Day . . . Harry Mou Hughes . . . the people who pay fines for bad table manners and those who eat chocolate pudding with their fingers . . . the stunning new outfits some folks wear to Tuesday evening dinner.

THEY'RE TALKING ABOUT the turmoil created by last minute preparation for the many parties and dances . . . learning to dance the "Salty Dog" . . . the damp handkerchiefs after the show, "Never Say Goodbye" . . . six o'clock tennis matches . . . Lynda Cramer's art gallery . . . the popular song composer of the campus . . . the Frolics . . . the fragrant blossoms on the trees by the Library, showing signs of spring.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

News in View . . .

Miss Bonnie Magill, acting chairman of the women's physical education department, has been elected to the position of member-at-large of the Central Association for Physical Education of College Women.

The election was recently held at the annual meeting of the Central Association in Denver.

Nine states—Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Wyoming, Nebraska, Colorado, Minnesota, South Dakota, and North Dakota—are included in the organization.

Dr. J. W. Jones, president of the College, went by plane to Harrison, Arkansas, Saturday, to attend the memorial services for Mrs. Ralph Knox, the sister of Mrs. Jones.

He was accompanied on the return trip by Mrs. Jones, who had gone to Harrison, April 21, immediately after hearing that her sister had been fatally injured in an automobile accident.

Four college students and Mr. John Smay, chairman of the College music faculty, went to Grant City recently to provide entertainment for a Rotary club meeting.

Deon Jenson, Veldeva Cochran, Fred Whitford, and Mr. Smay formed a saxophone quartet which played several musical numbers. Frank Garey, college projectionist, showed the Rotarians a film of the 1955 homecoming.

Four students and two members of the women's physical education department faculty attended a Synchronized Swimming Clinic at the Washburn University pool, Topeka. Those who went to the clinic were Nancy Kariger, Beverly Blohm, Pat Adams, Marilyn O'Connor, Miss Joan Harristhal and Miss Bonnie Magill.

Harold Vogesser, senior, has been given the Wall Street Journal Award for being the outstanding senior, according to a report from Dr. Sterling Surray, chairman of the business division.

The award consists of a silver medal embedded in a plastic paper weight and a year's subscription to the Wall Street Journal.

Seven from the campus attended the spring meeting of the Missouri Association of Teachers of English held recently in Warrensburg.

Dr. Frank Grube, chairman of the College Division of Language and Literature, presided at the morning session. He also acted as chairman of a discussion on "Encouraging Students to Build a Personal Library."

Other faculty members attending from here were Mrs. Harry Sheetz, Miss Violette Hunter, and Miss Dorothy Weigand. Students attending were Sally Bolin, B. G. Darby, and Carolyn Tudder.

The Senior Day Industrial Arts exhibit held in the I. A. building represented a cross section of all the crafts taught in the department.

The display featured Bill Cordonier's unusual coffee table made of Hawaiian wood called "Monkey Pot" and brought here from Hawaii by Mr. Cordonier. The first of its type made in the I. A. building, the coffee table was irregularly shaped and supported by modern wrought-iron legs.

Northwest Missouri State College was the host to a one-day workshop in Driver Education for High School Instructors recently.

Mr. Everett Brown, gave the welcoming address and introduced the panel members. Each member of the panel presented a phase of the program. Panel members included Mr. Oral W. Spurgeon, director, secondary education; Captain John A. Berglund, State Highway Patrol; Mr. Harold O. Carlton, Educational Consultant American Automobile Association; and Sergeant Miller Ashbury, Troop H. St. Joseph Highway Patrol.

The St. Joseph branch of the College Alumni Association will hold a basket dinner at the Swiss Lodge Pavilion north of St. Joseph on Saturday, May 5, at 7 p. m.

The Stroller . . .

The Stroller's hat goes off this week to the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity in recognition of their "Frolics of '56." The boys worked hard for many weeks to produce their show, and the result was well worth their efforts. The costuming alone was worth the price of admission.

High fidelity record playing in the Union is proving to be an attraction not only to students but to faculty members as well. Dr. Glenn Hoffman is even holding out-of-class listening sessions for his Humanities 1c sections in the new "hi-fi" room.

Last week's Stroller column was given the compliment of being "very attractive" by one of its readers. Just what was meant by the word "attractive" the Stroller has yet to find out, but she's working on it.

Miss Mattie Dykes' new book, "Behind the Birches," certainly is fascinating. The Stroller has not yet read all of it, but he's working toward that end. Incidentally, when you get your copy, be sure to look on page 208. There Miss Dykes gives a graphic account of the Stroller's life, her trials, tribulations, and triumphs.

Another story in Miss Dykes' book, the one about a picnic on top of the Administration building, has set the Stroller's mind to work. He managed to find his way to that lofty position recently, and he decided that it was no place to have a picnic. The roof slopes too much, and it's too windy.

Independent Club members had a rather lively square dance last week. Miss Joan Harristhal, women's P. E. instructor, called the squares (dances, not people). We hear that she used the l-c's as guinea-pigs on a couple of dances so that she would know how the dances looked when she taught them to her class.

Speaking of dancing, the sailors in "The Lowland Sea" certainly "live up" when they perform the sailors' hornpipe. Roger Rowlette, Ed Stock, Jerry Troxell, and Fred Whitford must have had quite a time learning their intricate steps.

Well, the last month of school is now under way, and the seniors are already beginning to look forward to commencement week. Last Friday, they were measured for their caps and gowns.

End of school also reminds us underclassmen of the up-coming final examinations, and how lucky the seniors are to have them early or not at all.

The Missourian editor has just informed the Stroller that he will have only one more column this semester. The next and final spring issue of the paper will be two weeks from today.

So long for now. See "you all" in a fortnight.

Bearcats Are Ready For Conference Meet

After losing only one meet this year, the Bearcat clundermen will be pointing to the MIAA Conference meet which will be held in Warrensburg next Friday and Saturday.

Injuries again have plagued Coach Ryland Milner. Lou Linville, 440 yard dash man, is out for the season with a cracked patella. Lou finished strong among the competition last spring in the outdoor meet.

Jack Spence, dash man and relays, is presently nursing a pulled tooth, but will be ready for this competition at Warrensburg. Spence is the best sprinter in the conference and also finished strong in the dashes last spring.

As the weather has been bad the past season the 'Cats haven't had much of a chance to show up well. Coach Milner hopes they will be at their peak in this important meet. With any luck at all the 'Cats should give the top ones some tough competition.

The dashes and relays have been particularly strong in the past few meets, and should make a good showing if the injuries will stay away. The 880 yard relay team will make a strong bid for the conference record. If Bob James gets up to par, with the other three men, it will be close without a doubt. James has been out with a pulled muscle the past few weeks, but is expected to be in shape by next Friday.

In the hurdles, Dick McDonald, freshman, has been showing up well. Vic Cromer and Jerry McGinnis also have been finishing high in this event.

Cape Girardeau will have the team to beat according to Coach Milner. Cape finished first in the indoor meet held in Columbia. Kirksville has been improving tremendously and will offer Cape some stiff opposition.

Other teams who will be there for the top position are Warrensburg and Rolla. Springfield has some winning men back from last season, one who set the 880 yard run record.

Ralph Pierce is strongly improving and will try for first in the 440 yard run, broad jump, and may run on the 880 yard relay team. Wayne Jackson will probably finish strong in the 440 also.

Last Monday the Bearcats came through again with a victory over the Tarkio College track team in a meet held here. The score was close throughout the meet, but the 'Cats held on to a win by a score of 73-63.

Baseball Team Win One and Lose One

This week the players on the College Baseball team will be up against some stiff competition again as they meet the club from St. Benedict's there tomorrow. The Bearcats will be home for their final game of the home season against Warrensburg next Tuesday afternoon. Game time for this final home contest is 4 o'clock.

William Jewell, whom the 'Cats had previously beaten 10-9, routed the 'Cats in a game played here last week, 19-2. Marvin Black started for the 'Cats and was the losing pitcher. This was the first loss for the Bearcats in three games.

Last Monday the baseball team got back in the winning column by edging the team from St. Benedict's 5-4. The game was tied, 3-3, going into the bottom of the seventh, but the 'Cats rallied to win the game. Gary Harris started for the Bearcats and was the winning pitcher.

Coach Bob Gregory's nine found themselves trailing 3-0 after the first half of the first inning as the St. Benedict Ravens picked up two hits from Harris. These were the only hits the Ravens got off Harris, who pitched six innings.

Marvin Black pitched the final three innings and gave up only two more hits to save the Bearcat victory.

Random Shots . . .

Intramural bowling is now being planned for the spring season of intramurals. Four teams will be competing, one from each organization. A team will be composed of four bowlers who will bowl on Mondays from 4 till 6. The cost for each bowler will be twenty-five cents per line. Organizations should be getting their members ready. Bowling may be alternated with softball on Mondays.

Senior Day was well received by all the high school students who attended. The organizations should be commended on their fine showing.

The Sig Taus are leading the intramural softball game. Interest has been fine this season, and it is hoped the interest will be as high in the closing events of the intramurals.

Congratulations to the Phi Sigs for their fine performance of the Phi Sig Frolics held last week.

A person always hears about shoe-string catches in baseball, but anyone who saw the Bearcats play William Jewell here will agree that Diz Barnett's was as good a catch as will be seen anywhere.

Good luck to the varsity teams who will be competing in the conference meets held in Warrensburg next week. This is the big one.
